Product name

The internal product name shown on the administrator interface.

Product name visible to end users

The product name shown to end users on their self-care interfaces.

Product type

The type of your product:

- Main product - This represents the basic services available to your customers.
- Add-on product - This enables access to a certain service feature (e.g. call waiting) and has a recurring cost (subscription) associated with it.

You can assign one main product and virtually unlimited number of add-on products to an account.

Add-on products have precedence over the main product. No matter what configuration is defined for the main product, it will be overridden by settings defined within add-on products.

You aren't allowed to change the type for saved products.

Priority

The priority level assigned to your add-on product.

Each add-on product has a priority level associated with it (from low to high). If more than one add-on products are assigned to an account, the add-on products with higher priorities override settings
